

My home page has been changed by <http://i-lookup.com/>. When I tried to contact them, the email was bounced. Now I am having trouble getting my home page back and i-lookup out of my system. Can you stop this practice of putting things into my computer without my permission?